Q3 2025 Fund Commentary

Market Commentary

After tariff disruption in early April, Canadian and U.S. equity markets rose to record highs in the third quarter. Canadian equities rose, with the S&P/TSX Composite Index returning 12.5%, outperforming U.S. equities, as measured by the S&P 500 Index, which returned 10.3%.

The Canadian economy saw a decline in exports because of the trade dispute. With unemployment rising in both countries, the Bank of Canada and the U.S. Federal Reserve Board cut policy rates in September.

In Canada, the materials sector outperformed, driven by the price of gold, which rose over 40% in 2025. Growing economic uncertainty and weakness in the U.S. dollar boosted the gold price and the Canadian equity market overall.

In the U.S., growth stocks outperformed, fueled by the artificial intelligence (AI) theme. NVIDIA Corp. became the largest company in history by market capitalization after surpassing US$4 trillion in valuation.

Performance

The Fund's relative exposure to Royal Bank of Canada, The Toronto-Dominion Bank (TD Bank) and Colliers International Group Inc. contributed to performance. Royal Bank reported higher-than-expected earnings, driven by strong capital markets and credit improvement. TD Bank's performance was driven by lower credit provisions and strong Canadian and wholesale banking results. Colliers beat earnings expectations and raised its outlook for the second half of 2025.

Relative exposure to CGI Inc., Metro Inc. and Canadian National Railway Co. (CN Rail) detracted from performance. CGI's earnings came in ahead of expectations but concerns about lower organic growth and potential disruption from AI pressured the stock. Metro saw softer same-store food sales compared to market expectations. CN Rail reduced its 2025 earnings-per-share growth forecast because of weak volumes amid tariff concerns and economic softness.

At a sector level, stock selection in financials, real estate and consumer discretionary contributed to performance. Stock selection and underweight exposure to materials detracted from performance as the price of gold rose. Selection and overweight exposure to consumer staples, as well as underweight exposure to information technology, also detracted from performance.

Portfolio Activity

The sub-advisor added NetApp Inc. and reduced CAE Inc. and Royal Bank.

Outlook

Amid trade uncertainty, global gross domestic product growth is expected to slow from 3.3% in 2024 to 3.2% in 2025 and 2.9% in 2026. These projections include economic declines in both the U.S. and China, and to a lesser extent in the European Union. Equity markets and the economy don't always run in parallel, however, as many equity indices have reached record highs in 2025.

Counsel Canadian Value Series A

International equity markets are outperforming the U.S. in 2025, which hasn't been the case for most of the post-global financial crisis period. This is impressive when you consider it has also been a good year for U.S. equities, particularly those benefiting from AI enthusiasm. The S&P 500 Index's growth in 2025 is largely because of AI, leading to concentration risk, which is less of an issue with international indices.

In the sub-advisor's view, the Fund holds fundamentally sound companies with growing end markets, healthy margins and strong returns profiles.
