Q4 2025 Fund Commentary

Commentary and opinions are provided by Putnam Investments Canada

Market Commentary

Fixed income markets gained in the fourth quarter of 2025. Markets began the quarter on uncertain footing, spooked by credit concerns around the U.S. government shutdown. However, investors were encouraged later in the period following U.S. Federal Reserve Board (Fed) interest rate cuts, better economic conditions and resilient fundamentals.

The Fed lowered its federal funds rate to a range of 3.50%–3.75% by quarter-end as labour market data remained softer and growth slowed. Ten-year U.S. treasury yields were rangebound and ended December at 4.16%, essentially where they began the quarter.

In this environment, high-yield corporate credit rose amid narrowing credit spreads. The U.S. high-yield default rate ended the quarter at 1.88%, still below long-term averages. Total high-yield new issue supply amounted to USD$65.4 billion, while high-yield funds reported an inflow of USD$3.3 billion.

Performance

Relative exposures to Rocket Companies Inc., Saks Global Holdings LLC and Seagate Technology Holdings PLC contributed to the Fund's performance.

Underweight exposure to Nationstar Mortgage LLC detracted from the Fund's performance following the news of the company's sale to Rocket Companies. Overweight exposures to Vibrantz Technologies Inc. and Venture Global LNG Inc. also detracted from performance.

At a sector level, security selection within the financials sector and among BB-rated securities contributed to the Fund's performance. Selection in the cable and satellite industry detracted from performance, as did the Fund's cash exposure.

At a regional level, security selection in the U.S. contributed to the Fund's performance.

Portfolio Activity

A holding in Genmab AS was added to the Fund, and a holding in CrossCountry Intermediate HoldCo LLC was increased. A holding in Allied Universal HoldCo LLC was sold, and a holding in Spirit AeroSystems Holdings Inc. was reduced.

Outlook

Corporate fundamentals have been resilient, and technical factors have been supportive. The sub-advisor believes that these trends will likely persist, with bouts of volatility surrounding the implementation of the U.S. administration's policies. Credit spreads are rich, but in the sub-advisor's view are appropriate given the low default environment supported by wide-open capital markets. The Fed implemented interest rate cuts in the second half of 2025 as the U.S. labour market softened and economic growth slowed, but it remained positive.

Counsel High Yield Fixed Income Series I

The sub-advisor is focused on industry and company fundamentals, the health of balance sheets, generation and use of free cash flow, and resilience of credits to slower economic growth. The sub-advisor is cautious about deeply distressed issuers. The U.S. high-yield default rate rose in December but remains below long-term averages. Technical factors are solid with strong demand, inflows and consistent new issues. Yields and sub-par dollar prices are somewhat attractive, in the sub-advisor's view, while spreads remain at levels that are fair but not compelling.

Possible risks to the sub-advisor's outlook are rising inflation, policy missteps, a more severe economic slowdown and heightened geopolitical tension.
