Q3 2025 Fund Commentary

Market Commentary

During the third quarter of 2025, enthusiasm for artificial intelligence (AI) continued, resulting in narrow leadership for equity market performance. The 10 largest companies represented nearly 62% of the index by weight and were responsible for 84% of the returns for the quarter. Equity market performance was dominated by select mega-capitalization information technology and communication services stocks.

Performance

The Fund's relative exposure to NVIDIA Corp., Taiwan Semiconductor Manufacturing Co. Ltd. (TSMC) and Monolithic Power Systems Inc. contributed to performance. NVIDIA's stock rise was driven by earnings results, positive management commentary about improving gross margins, increasing production yields and the announcement of new strategic partnerships. TSMC's outperformance was because of a better-than-expected earnings report and revenue forecast amid demand for its chip manufacturing capabilities. Monolithic's enterprise data segment outperformed, contributing to sales growth and a better-than-expected earnings and forward outlook.

Relative exposure to Chipotle Mexican Grill Inc., Intuit Inc. and The Trade Desk Inc. detracted from performance. Chipotle shares sold off after the company reported mixed earnings results and lowered its forecast amid weak traffic trends and declining same-store sales. Intuit, despite reporting positive earnings, was affected by the muted forward outlook the company provided. Trade Desk's stock sold off after it reported mixed results, a weaker-than-expected forecast and concerns about competitive threats.

At a sector level, a lack of exposure to real estate and consumer staples contributed to performance. Stock selection in communication services, consumer discretionary and information technology detracted from performance. Overweight exposure to financials and industrials also detracted from performance.

Portfolio Activity

Snowflake Inc. was added because the sub-advisor believes its consumption-based model, mission-critical role in enterprise data infrastructure and exposure to AI workloads offer positive potential. Equifax Inc. was added as the sub-advisor expects it to benefit from its multi-year technology transformation and cloud migration, which is now nearing completion.

Workday Inc. was sold in favour of the Snowflake purchase, which the sub-advisor believes is an upgrade to the portfolio.

Outlook

There are no new developments to report at this time.
